STILL HE LIVES.

Further Reports Confirm the Statement That Maceo Still Lives.

COMMODORE OFF FOR CUBA.

Cabinet Crisis Threatened in Spain Over Opposition to Weyler.

EASTERN CUBA PEEDEFUL.

Key West, Jan. 2.—Further news has been received from Cuba to the effect that Maceo still lives and is on the road to recovery. It has been very generally accepted here as reliable and it is now believed beyond a doubt that the report of General Maceo's escape from death is true, and that he will again take the field against his country's oppressors.

THE COMMODORE OFF.

With Arms and Ammunition For the Struggling Cubans.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 2.—The steamer Commodore, which cleared from this port Thursday night, bound for Cuba with arms and ammunition, grounded in the St. John's river at Commodore's Point, a few miles below this city, and remained there all night.

The revenue cutter Boutwell started down the river this morning and the Commodore a line and pulled it off, after which the boat down the river until towing could be gotten up. The Commodore crossed the bar at 2 o'clock and headed for Cuba. The gunner from the Boutwell has been withdrawn from the Three Friends by Capt. Kilgore, acting under instructions from Washington. District Attorney Clark has received no instructions to libel the steamer, and it is now free from the custody of the government.

FILIBUSTERS IN DISTRESS.

Rescued by the Duroless and Supposed to Be on the Way to Cuba.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 1.—The filibusters, who left Fernandina on the steamer Three Friends about three weeks ago, bound for Cuba, and who, after the failure of the expedition, were landed on No. Name Key, have been in distress and at least two of them have died because of the privations they have been compelled to endure. No Name Key is situated about sixty miles northeast of Key West.

The steamer Duroless, which left this port Thursday afternoon, has reached the Key, where the men and cargo were left, and has succeeded in taking them aboard, and they are supposed to be now on the way to Cuba again.

CABINET CRISIS.

May Result From the Attacks On Weyler.

Madrid, Jan. 2.—The "El Financiero" and "El Comercio" of Madrid, which are the two most influential newspapers in the city, have both published attacks on General Weyler, which are the result of a cabinet crisis, and that many people believe there will be a change of policy.

A meeting of Spanish generals was held to consider these newspaper articles, the full text of which was published in the telegraphic abroad for fear of causing dismay among the troops in Cuba and encouraging the friends of the insurgents in the United States.

It is positively insisted that a decision has been reached to relieve Capt. Gen. Weyler of his functions, but that the Premier, Senor Canovas del Castillo, has suspended the order.

All the Ministers met at the Premier's residence last evening in order to discuss the matter. A feeling of general public indignation prevails. It is asserted that the soldiers are suffering from hunger, exposure and from lack of medical care, while nobody seems to know what becomes of the money sent to Cuba.

EASTERN CUBA PEACEFUL.

General Garcia Says the Insurgents Are Relinquishing Supreme in Oriente.

New York, Jan. 2.—Gen. Calixto Garcia writes of the peaceful condition of the eastern part of Cuba in a letter that was received yesterday. It was dated at Salama Grande, Cuba, on December 30.

The flag of the Cuban republic, Gen. Garcia wrote, "waves in unimpeded way over the entire province of Oriente. You can drive for miles across the country and never meet a Spaniard. Free schools, modeled after those of the United States, have been established. The farmers are planting and tilling their lands as though no revolution existed. My army of 2,000 men is in splendid condition. The officers are brave young fellows, many of them belonging to the most noble families of Cuba. Jealousy among them is unknown. We are animated by the same love of independence and hatred of the Spaniards."

dependence and hatred of the Spaniards. "Gen. Maximino Gomez is well on his way westward. He crossed the Meron to the Santa Clara during the last week of November."

SHE DESERTED HIM.

Pleas Jennings Wants to Be Divorced.

Pleas Jennings today filed suit in the circuit court against his wife, Nettie L. Jennings, for divorce. He alleges that they were married in 1885, and lived together for ten years, when the defendant, without cause, abandoned him and went to St. Paul, Minn.

He asks for an absolute divorce.

PROF. BADGER

A Ubiquitous Terpsichorean Artist.

He Is Told to Move On—Believed to Be Here Again.

Prof. Badger, the dancing master who was run out of Dyersburg and Union City, Tenn., and Mayfield, Ky., is said to be in Paducah. The Metropolis "Democrat" says: "Badger, the dancing master who was ordered out of Mayfield Tuesday and who is now in Paducah, has a record that is spotted like a circus pony."

He had unpleasant experiences in two states before he entered Kentucky. He was taken out of Poplar Bluff, Mo., on a rail.

He then went to Dexter, Mo., which town he left between snags in order to keep from leaving between rail benches.

Some of the best people in Mayfield are authorities for the statement that "Prof. Badger," who is trying to secure a class here, and "Prof. Badger," are one and the same person. If he is, Metropolis can get along without him.

On "Prof. Badger" was confronted with such facts as could be gathered by the "Democrat" yesterday afternoon, which he secretly read and left this morning for Paducah, on a quarter horse from Ed. Pelland for fare, to relate the changes. He stated to one party that his father lived in Washington city, and that he had telegraphed his father to meet him in Paducah. To another party he said that his father was in the ivory business at Lexington, Ky.

On leaving he wanted to give Lloyd, who had a dollar bill for his board, the bill, but he refused to take it, and he left with a dollar bill for his board, the bill, but he refused to take it, and he left with a dollar bill for his board.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Mr. E. B. Covington Breaks a Finger.

Fell While Attempting to Get His Hat From the Gutter.

Mr. E. B. Covington, of the firm of Covington Bros., met with a painful accident about 11:40 this morning in front of L. B. Ogilvie's at Fourth and Broadway. He fell and broke the little finger on his left hand.

Several days ago he was in a delivery wagon when it ran away with him on West Jefferson street.

The injured man was badly shaken, his ankle and hand were confined to his room, and this morning, when he ventured out on crutches.

His hat blew off at Fourth and Broadway, and in his attempt to recover it he fell, breaking his little finger, and badly lacerating the member. Dr. Murrell set the fracture, which is quite painful.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

A Runaway Horse Collides With a Tree.

A horse belonging to Expressman Lamm Barnhart was killed in a runaway on West Jefferson street.

The animal was driven out to a turkey shoot and the bridle attached to a tree. The driver walked away, and when the first gun went off so did the horse. He pulled the bridle over his head and dashed at a break-neck speed through the woods, completely demolishing the vehicle against the trees.

The animal finally ended his career against an oak, colliding with it, and falling dead in his tracks.

MR. D. J. ALEXANDER

Died of Rheumatism at His Home in Paris, Tenn.

Mr. D. J. Alexander, the well known turpentine dealer at his home at Paris, Tenn., of inflammatory rheumatism.

He was about 60 years of age, and came to Paducah to attend the "Olds," owning "Little Nick" and several other horses.

GREAT MAN DIES

Rear Admiral Skerrett Passes Away at Washington.

BANKER HAMMOND DISAPPEARS.

Omaha Loan and Trust Company Savings Bank Fails.

MURDER IN MENEFEE COUNTY.

Washington, Jan. 2.—Rear Admiral Joseph S. Skerrett, retired, died here yesterday. His death, while sudden, was not wholly unexpected, as he had been in bad health since his retirement from active service in July, 1894.

The admiral was in the 61th year of his age and is survived by a widow, three daughters and two sons. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon and the interment will be at Arlington.

Admiral Skerrett had a long and honorable career in the service of his country. A native of Ohio, he entered the navy as midshipman in October, 1878, passed through the various grades, became a lieutenant commander in 1892, and was stationed at the Washington Navy Yard the following year, after which he served steadily during the civil war on the Shenandoah and the gunboat Katahdin.

He commanded the gunboat Aroostook from 1894 to 1895, and was actively engaged with the Confederate forces at the mouth of the Brazos river, Texas, in June, 1864. Subsequently he spent three years surveying in the Pacific ocean, had command of an expedition to Panama, and another to Asia, Samoa, and the local troubles with the United States Consul; was governor for two years of the Naval Asylum at Philadelphia, later was in command of the naval forces on the Pacific station and was at Honolulu during the exciting times following the revolution.

It is said that because of his sympathy with the revolution, he was summarily detached from the command of the station and transferred to the Asiatic station, where he rendered valuable services in connection with the trouble in Korea, leading up to the Chinese-Japanese war. While on the Asiatic station he reached the retiring age, in July, 1894, and was ordered home.

HAMMOND DISAPPEARS.

The Second Vice President National Bank of Illinois Believed to Have Succeeded.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—W. A. Hammond, second vice president and manager of the defunct National Bank of Illinois, has disappeared and it is believed he has fled to the East, where he is being sought for the body. Mr. Hammond has been greatly humiliated over the criticisms of his actions in the conduct of the bank and the charges of corruption and fraud which have been freely made and his friends believe his mind became unbalanced. There are, however, others who believe he has simply disappeared to avoid arrest and prosecution which seemed to await him.

Omaha Says Fails.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 2.—The Omaha Loan and Trust Co. Savings Bank closed its doors today. This bank had a capital of $50,000, and a recent statement showed a surplus of $22,000, undivided profits, $3,000, average deposits, $320,000. It is claimed that depositors will be paid in full.

Five Men Fatally Injured.

New York, Jan. 2.—In a fire in a small hotel on East Houston street in this city, this morning five men were fatally injured.

Brutally Murdered at Church.

Campton, Ky., Jan. 2.—Reports from Menifee county state that Jas. Peiffer, a wealthy farmer, was brutally murdered at church yesterday. No particulars are obtainable.

Governor Admits He Was Rusted.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 2.—It is stated the governor admits his intention to resign unless there is a decided improvement in his health.

WHOLE FAMILY SICK.

For This Reason Justice Anderson Held No Court.

Justice Anderson, of near Grahamsville, is ill, and so are all the members of his family. As a result, there was no court at Grahamsville today.

The case against Tom Wakefield, for shooting George Ayers several days ago, was continued, as Ayers was unable to attend court.

The Feast-Matlock branch of the potter case was also continued.

Death in Mechanicsburg.

Chas. Parker, of 210 Ashbrook Avenue, Mechanicsburg, died this morning, aged 18. He had not been a resident of the city long. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning.

Reduced prices on many leading articles at New Backs Store.

Trouble Over a Kettle.

Officers Jones and Thompson were called down on South Second street this morning to quell a family disturbance in a tenement house. It is occupied by white and colored people, and one family washed a kettle in a room claimed by the other, which created the disturbance. No arrests were made.

Removed.

The Equitable Life office has been removed from the Palmer House to room 3, second floor, American-German National bank building. Elevator, Frank Slott, general agent for Western Kentucky.

The Last Rites Today.

The funeral of Mr. Rolt, Hughes, who died at his home near Woodville Thursday night, took place this morning. Quite a crowd of friends from the city attended the last rites.

POPS TURNED DOWN.

The McCracken County Democrats Wont Fuse.

Meeting of the Democratic Committee Yesterday—Four Resignations.

Messrs. T. J. Moore, member of the Democratic county committee from the Plow Factory precinct, Mr. J. E. Potter from the north side of the court house, Mr. C. C. Rose from Durrett's and Mr. F. Hammett from Kirkpatrick's, all resigned yesterday, the two former because they will be candidates for office and the two latter for other reasons. Messrs. F. Hammett, Ed P. Noble, Jesse Gilbert and Frank Ditzel were suggested as successors to the gentlemen above, successively. Mr. Lenke was made secretary, vice Mr. Rose, resigned.

The meeting of the committee was in progress at present time yesterday, and the resolutions adopted are in full as follows:

Resolved, By the Democratic committee of the county of McCracken, that a Democratic primary election is hereby ordered to be held on said county to nominate Democratic candidates for county offices, County judge, circuit clerk, county clerk, sheriff, jailer, county attorney, county school commissioner, assessor, coroner and representative to the legislature, on Saturday, the 25 day of April, 1897.

Resolved, That said primary election be held and conducted under the provisions of the general primary election law of the state of Kentucky.

Resolved, That where the qualifications of voters is not prescribed by law, that it shall be deemed that all persons who voted for the Democratic ticket at the November election 1896, and all young men who will have attained their majority, and who desire to affiliate with the Democratic party shall be considered qualified to vote in said primary election.

Resolved, That it shall be further deemed a qualification as an elector in said primary election that said voter shall thereby pledge himself to vote for the nominees of said primary election at the November election, 1897.

Resolved, That the chairman and secretary of the county committee, be and they are hereby instructed to prepare the necessary books and ballots for holding said election, and they shall ascertain the cost of same, and other expenses which shall be apportioned among the various candidates before said primary election, and that no name of any candidate shall be placed upon the ballot until he shall have paid the pro rata amount assessed against him.

Resolved, That the county chairman shall appoint the necessary election officers in the various voting places to hold said election.

A motion was made to hold the primary on the last Saturday in May but it was voted down.

The communication from the Populists relative to an fusion was received, but the motion asking that a committee be appointed to confer with the Populists looking to this end was voted down, and the following resolution was also read and voted down:

Be it resolved by the Democratic committee of McCracken county, that we recognize the unity of interest between the Populist and Democratic parties. Therefore be it

A SHORT POLICE COURT

Frank Huffey Fined To-day—Dick Clements Said to Have Been Seen.

OTHER ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

The penitent countenance of Frank Huffey was seen in Judge Sanders' court this morning for the first time in many days. Frank recently served a jail sentence for some misdemeanor, and when he was released had a $50 fine to expiate on the streets. Judge Sanders remitted it, however, on condition that Huffey would be of good behavior. He is always quiet and peaceable until he gets a few drinks in him. Then he distrusts the entire community.

Last night he had a few drinks in him, and attacked Mike Foley, who was asleep on a table. He struck him while he was in this sort of a position and then drew a poker on him. Judge Sanders fined him $10 and costs, and was magnanimous enough to not allude to the old judgments, which he had said would be enforced if Huffey ever got on any more rampages.

Albee Duncan and Vina Stubblefield, notorious colored women, were presented on a charge of using indecent language. The Duncan woman denied the charge in the face of incontrovertible evidence, and was fined $10 and costs, while the case against the other woman was dismissed.

Commonwealth's Attorney Bradshaw was informed yesterday that Dick Clements, colored, who was taken to Edlyville to serve twenty years, last Monday, had been seen down about the wharfboat by several men who knew him well. It was reported before Clements left that he had the promise of a pardon, but it is likely that those who claim to have seen him were mistaken.

Marshal Collins claims that this has been the fullest week in police circles for many months. The police say the same thing, and whenever the police find out that it is dull you may depend on it that it is dull.

The past week has been exceedingly inactive about the county court houses, and save the proceeing of a few marriage licenses and a trial or two nothing has been done thereabout. Monday, however, the civil term of circuit court begins, and this will make matters livelier. There is a large number of suits to be tried, but none of any great importance.

The suit against the Broadway Methodist church will likely be tried at this term of court, and there are about a dozen damage suits also, to be settled.

County Attorney Houser and Attorney Dave Cross left this morning for Grahamsville to attend Spire Hartley's court. A large number of Christmas fights will be investigated and there are several breach of the peace cases to be tried.

The cases against Besley Bros., at Melber, were continued until next Saturday, when called yesterday. Henry Besley, who was so badly injured, was unable to attend court, and is still in a serious condition. Attorneys Houser and Ford went to Melber to attend the trial.

There are now in the lockup about half a dozen discolored, worthless colored wenches who are living at a dead expense to the city of several dollars a day. They can't work on the streets, and there isn't enough work about the city hall for them all to do.

The work house problem has puzzled the authorities long enough to merit a settlement. It is time for the city to get out, and those who are interested in the morals and progress of the city would like to see her have one. It is no disadvantage to put some people in the lockup, for there is no work for them to do. It is a decided disadvantage to the city, however.

There are about 500 cases on the civil docket, which will be taken up in the circuit court Monday. Out of these there are but thirty-one new cases, fourteen ordinary and seventeen equity.

SATURDAY, JAN. 2, 1897.

SEVERAL of the banking institutions that have recently been reported as having failed are now shown to be strong and in good shape, being only temporarily embarrassed by the failure of the large Chicago concerns.

THAT the reported renewal of hostilities between the Foraker and anti-Foraker factions of the Republican party in Ohio is merely a canard by which it is hoped to create feeling and revive the factional differences, there can be little doubt. State Senator Kurtz professes entire ignorance of any such meeting as reported and says the party is united and at peace.

THIS Spanish press at Madrid is attacking General Weyler, and branding the butcher without gloves. So violent was the attack of several of them recently that the entire editions were seized by the police. That General Weyler will be recalled unless he speedily drives the insurgents from Pinar del Rio now seems well assured. The disgrace of the butcher would be a source of great satisfaction to many.

CHICAGO claims a death rate of only 14.37 per 1,000 inhabitants during the past year, about one-third less than most of the other great cities. There were in Chicago last year more than 1,000 fewer deaths than in 1895, the decrease being entirely among children under five years of age. The death rate in New York was 21 per 1,000; in Brooklyn 20 per 1,000 and in Philadelphia 20.3 per 1,000. This is a great record for the windy city by the lake.

DUNN's trade review which we publish elsewhere presents a most encouraging outlook for the immediate future. Wheat has reached the highest mark it has touched since 1892. In other words immediately after the election of a Republican president it reaches a higher point than it has reached since the last Republican administration. Farmers may possibly be able to see after awhile that their products bring better prices when Republicans are in power than otherwise.

SENATOR SHERMAN is not in favor of a tariff commission to fix and regulate duties on importations, as provided by Senator Cullom's pending bill. The veteran senator is very jealous of the prerogatives of congress, and of what he regards as an impertinent attempt to take away from a competent commission could be provided for which should have the matter in charge and make minor changes from time to time as required without disturbing business interests as does the agitation in Congress.

It is now said Mr. Cleveland looks forward to a future vindication at the hands of the American people by a third election to the presidency. While Mr. Cleveland has many points of character which we cannot but admire, he has few of the traits that endear public men to the people. He has not taken the American people into his confidence in that degree that would make him a really popular man. In fact Mr. Cleveland will on March 4 bid farewell forever to the White House. The American people refused a third term to a far more popular man than Grover Cleveland can ever be.

SENATOR WALCOTT admits that he goes to Europe in the effort to set on foot a movement for an international monetary conference with the approval of President-elect McKinley. This is the best evidence possible that it is the earnest intention of the young administration to put forth an effort to redeem the pledges of the Republican platform, with reference to international bimetalism. Should Mr. Walcott succeed in securing the attention of European governments it is possible that the desired conference may be held soon after McKinley takes his seat. Certain it is there will be no lack of effort on the part of the American government, under Mr. McKinley's direction, to secure the only safe and sensible means of extending to silver its rightful position as a money metal.

To coin silver freely and in unlimited quantities without the concurrence of other nations would be to invite the dumping of the silver of the world into our mints; it would be to debase our coin and unsettle values; it would be to cheat our labor out of half its wage. But it is by no means certain that, with silver at the present market price other nations can be induced to consider favorably any scheme looking to its coinage at a ratio approaching that hitherto in vogue. It is hoped by many they can. If a majority of the important commercial nations agree upon the free coinage of silver at a fixed ratio it will certainly have a marked effect on the price of the metal. Such an effect, however, could not be brought about by any one nation, though it be the greatest commercial nation on earth, and to attempt it would be to court disaster.

The awarding of contracts for two cruisers for the Japanese government to American ship builders which was announced yesterday is a source of satisfaction to every thoughtful and patriotic citizen. Not that a contract or rather two contracts aggregating $3,000,000 amounts to anything to speak of, but the manner in which they were awarded shows this country to be in position to compete with the world in the matter of ship building. There were in this country and in England for several months prior to the awarding of the contracts, experts in the employ of the Japanese government, examining carefully into the facilities for doing such work and the character of the finished vessels they have produced. The awarding of the contracts therefore means that they have found our builders at least equal to any in the world. The building of two vessels will not end the matter of the foreign war vessels we shall be called on to construct. If we are not mistaken these are the first foreign contracts of importance ever awarded to this country. It is but the beginning. It is highly probable we shall build others for the Japanese navy, as they are to build a large number within the next few years. Our ship building industry is hardly out of its swaddling clothes but it already gives promise of great things.

THE MCKINLEY IDEA.
Comparatively few presidents have entered the White House as thoroughly equipped for the arduous and responsible duties of the great office as will Major McKinley. No more thorough patriot, and few if any able statesmen have filled the office of president. Having been many years in public life and rubbing against great men, he has shown himself one of the greatest men of the country.

A president cannot make or prevent good times or had, in the ordinary course of events. It is the principles he represents, and which Congress, with his help, enacts into laws, that affects the business conditions of the country. Mr. McKinley represents pre-eminently the doctrine of protection to American industries. It was his identification with this doctrine that led to his nomination and election to the presidency. The voice of the people was not equivocal. The election of McKinley meant protection to American industries and American labor.

Not a few Democrats and some of them are members of one or other house of congress, signify their desire to give protection a chance to show what it will do. Such a proposition seems ludicrous in the light of the history of the country in which repeatedly has prospered under protection been followed by depression under low tariff, and vice versa. History shows that every low tariff we have had has produced distress, and every protective tariff, prosperity. But these fellows have been so blinded by their theories and so hampered by their prejudices they have not been able to see the light. The experience of the past three years has caused them to soften their prejudices and has partially opened their eyes. They will now be watchful and they will be open to conviction. The next four years will convert many to the doctrine of protection.

Congress will undoubtedly pass a protective measure early in the coming session, which will be operative for several years before there will be any chance to repeal it. This was not the case with the McKinley law, which was repealed before it fairly became operative and at a time when millions were about to be expended in new industries that would have employed steadily thousands who have since worked hardly half time, and that at reduced wages.

CONDITION OF TRADE.

Situation as It Appears in the Last Week of the Year.

R. G. DUN & CO.'S REPORT.

Wheat Commands the Highest Price Since June, 1892

CONFIDENCE IS ALMOST UNIVERSAL.

New York, Jan. 1.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly "Review of Trade" will say:

"There have been more commercial failures in 1896 than in any previous year except 1893. The number is about 14,890, against 13,197 last year, with liabilities of about $225,000,000, against $173,196,000 last year. This is an increase in number of about 12 per cent. and in liabilities of about 20 per cent. The holidays makes it impossible to give exact figures until next week, but the monthly returns heretofore prepared show that $36,000,000 of the excess over last year was in two months, August and September, in which the manufacturing liabilities were $15,000,000 larger than last year; trading $10,000,000 larger; brokers and other commercial, $10,500,000 larger. Of the latter class $11,041,416 out of about $18,600,000 in those two months; of the manufacturing class, $24,210,356 out of about $98,260,000 in the whole year was in those two months, and in the trading class, $21,651,880 out of about $108,800,000 was in the whole year.

Figures of Defaulted Liabilities.
"The ratio of defaulted liabilities to clearing-house exchanges was $4.37 per $10,000 against $3.25 last year and was $6.39 in 1893. The average of defaulted liabilities per firm in business was $100.57, against $145 last year and $209.65 in 1893. The exact statement by states and by branches of business will be given next week. For the first time detailed monthly statements are also published for the last quarter of the year, 1896, showing commercial liabilities amounting to $64,000,000.

"The year closes with an epidemic of failures, mainly at the West and in banks, loan and trust companies, or concerns dependent on them. The action of the clearing houses in various places indicates no want of confidence, and several banks which have failed will be enabled to pay in full, but the disclosure of unsoundness in a few widely known institutions in the abnormal state of popular feeling after an exciting contest on the monetary issue has caused distrust and suspicion where it is frequently undeserved. There has been no monetary pressure to cause trouble nor have important Western products declined in value. There has evidently been too liberal assistance given by some fiduciary concerns to speculative operations. No drain on Eastern funds has resulted since the first alarm at two large failures, and the money then sent has all returned. Failures often grow more frequent as annual settlements approach.

"The holiday dullness has been intensified by the failures and the efforts of great combinations to make new arrangements.

No Lack of Confidence.
"With iron, coke, wool, cotton, and hides all somewhat lower there is almost universal confidence that business will soon become large and safer than before for a long time, and several large establishments, among them the Yonkers carpet works, which employs 7,000 hands, when full, will start operations. The cotton mills have enormous stocks of unsold goods in some lines, the surplus of printed cloths being the largest ever known and about a quarter of a year's consumption.

"Wool sales decreased 24 per cent in the first four months, and were smaller than for five years; decreased 56 per cent. In the second four months, when new wool was coming forward, and were much the smallest ever known, except in the panic of 1893; but enormous sales, mainly speculative, made the aggregate during the last four months nearly equal to that of last year.

"Wheat has risen to the highest point since June, 1896, because the western receipts in five weeks have been but 13,280,000 bushels, against 22,606,367 bushels last year. Atlantic exports, four included, have been in five weeks 3,300,000 bushels, against 19,413,245 bushels last year. The exports from New York in December were 5 per cent. larger and the imports 12 per cent. smaller than last year.

Most druggists sell you what you ask for. Some will ask you to take something which they claim is "just as good." Sometimes a little more profit induces them to do this. Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey is the best cough, cold and grip cure. After you try it once you will like it too well to accept any substitute.

A HUGE ELECTRIC FURNACE.

A New Way to Treat Iron Ore—It May Work a Revolution.

The new process which De Laval, the Swedish engineer, has invented for the conversion of iron ore into pure metallic iron or into steel attracting attention for several distinct reasons. One is that the man himself has already derived both wealth and fame from two of his earlier inventions, a machine for milking cows and a steam turbine. Success like this justifies a good deal of curiosity in regard to any fresh scheme that he may propose. Another reason is that the attempt is made, in the De Laval process, to accomplish in one operation what it usually takes two to perform, the complete reduction of the iron impurities associated with the metal as found in the earth. Instead of producing pig iron first, and then converting this into commercial iron or steel bars, the ingenious Swede completes the job with a single heating. Thirdly, he proposes to employ electricity in his work on a colossal scale, and for that reason he and other capitalists whom he has associated with him are buying up a lot of the best water powers in Sweden. Among those already secured is one developing 60,000 or 70,000 horse power. The Iron Age, which makes this announcement, says that four falls in one stream at Trollhattan combine to give the total here mentioned. While there is no reason to doubt this statement, it may be remarked that one need not easily find this name in gazetteers or atlases. Trollhattan, however, is said to be the place where, for the last three years, De Laval has been carrying on his metallurgical experiments.

Electricity is already used in large quantities for the purification of metals, copper and the production of aluminum at Niagara and Noumenen. But the processes in both cases are different from that which is involved in the new system of reducing iron ore. They are chemical in their nature, and effect a disintegration of substances dissolved in a bath through which a current is sent. What De Laval does, on the other hand, is merely to produce heat, precisely as is done in an electric welding machine, an electric cooking machine, or one of those dry formers in which Mr. Molson manufactures diamonds. By transforming his current, so that it has an exceedingly low voltage and a great volume, he obtains intense heat from the resistance offered by a resistance which he introduces at the right point. In this manner he gets a higher temperature than with coal or gas, and gets it more quickly. So huge a scheme for producing heat with electricity is without precedent in industrial history.

The material out of which De Laval's furnace is made has not yet been mentioned in any reports at hand. Molson used bits of time. But his apparatus was a mere toy in comparison with a modern blast or regenerating furnace. A little more information is needed, though, as to the arrangement of the contents. The ore is reduced to fine powder and mixed with pulverized peat. This compound is subjected to some preliminary warming in a rotating cylinder before being subjected to the electric current.

How far the general plan here mentioned is available for use in America is a question not easily answered at present. Swedish iron ore is different from that found in England and this country. Nevertheless, it might be practicable to employ the De Laval process here, and, if so, would prove particularly valuable in those parts of the country producing iron and not coal, but blessed with water power, which could be readily converted into electricity. N. Y. Tribune.

Water in Wood.
It has commonly been estimated that green wood, when cut, contains about 45 per cent. of its weight in moisture, but in the forests of central Europe wood cut down in winter is said to hold more than 40 per cent. of water at the end of the following summer. Kept for several years in a dry place, wood retains from 15 to 20 per cent. of water, while that which has been thoroughly desiccated will, when exposed to air under ordinary circumstances, absorb 5 per cent. of water in the first three days, and will continue to absorb it until it reaches from 14 to 16 per cent. as a normal standard. The amount fluctuating above and below this standard according to the state of the atmosphere. It has been found that, by exposing green wood to a temperature of 212 degrees, F., the loss of weight equalled 45 per cent.; and, further, on exposing small prisms of wood one-half inch square and eight inches long, cut out of billets that had been exposed for two years, to the action of superheated steam for two hours, their loss of weight was found to be from 15 to 45 per cent., according to the temperature of the steam.—Chicago Chronicle.

California's Mustard Crop.
"This country is now growing a large part of the mustard put up in England as well as in this country," said a commercial man, "and California is raising the larger part of it. The mustard seed has just been harvested in California, and probably will run up to 16,000,000 pounds, or 1,000,000 pounds more than the crop of 1895. The seed is kept six months before being ground. The brown seed has the best flavor and greatest pungency, while the yellow produces the most oil. The English mustard packers have made the yellow the most fashionable, however, and as a result there are ten pounds of yellow produced for every pound of the brown, though the brown is stronger and better in every respect. Probably one-half of the English mustard that is used in this country grew in California, though it was ground and packed in England. French mustard is the same as other mustard, except being soaked in vinegar, properly spiced for 24 hours before it is ground."—Washington Star.

New Electric Insulator.
Ambros is the name of a new insulating material which is described in the Electro-Technician. This material is made from specially prepared fibrous silicates thoroughly soaked and mixed with fossil resin, and then subjected to an exceedingly high pressure. The product is a solid, uniform material, which is practically waterproof, possesses a high specific resistance, and will withstand a fire test of 400 degrees centigrade. Moreover, it is unattacked by acids.—Chicago Chronicle.

Great Turtle Shells.
The huge turtles that existed during the youth of the world appear to have inhabited the foothills of the Himalayan mountains. The shells and bones of these extinct creatures, which occasionally wash out of the ravines where they have been buried for ages, prove that they were more than twice as large as any species of turtle now existing, which now exists.—Chicago Times-Herald.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

Items of Interest Relative to the Railroads and Railroad People.

N. C. AND ST. L. RAILROAD.

Conductor Weddle returned from the south end last night and night local on this morning.

Engineer James Spence leaves on 104 for Memphis to run extra on the lower division until further orders.

Conductor Austin, old "get there Bob" of the locals, gave the high ball on train 108 yesterday and away she went for Memphis.

Engine 125, Sandy Herring and Earl Morrick on the lookout, left about 2:30 this morning to bring in that part of train 117 left by engine 5.

A slight mishap occurred to engine 5 this morning, preventing her pulling a full train, but she is coming in on one side with what cars she can handle. I did not learn the nature of the accident.

Mr. W. H. Russell, a whiteman express messenger on the road, who has been in the I. C. hospital for some weeks past, with fever, was around this morning mingling with the boys, who are all pleased to see him out again.

Ben Rodgers, the eagle eye on the 305 and a guest with him this a. m., which he says is of royal blood, being of kindred descent from the Queen's own kennel of bird dogs. Toms it looked just like any other four-week-old cur "pup".

The crews of the local freights are all happy once more. They got a good rest yesterday and are now again on their regular days. They were up with the larks this morning and singing as lustily as the last prima donna at her debut.

Fireman Jack Bunker, who has been "hors du combat" since he joined the fire guard at the time of the Somerville wreck, reported for duty yesterday and will go south with the wild geese, and shovel coal into the fireboxes for the Memphis end.

The following list is a complete roster of the names of the men employed in train service on January 1, 1907. It is published at the request of several of them. How many will be on the list one year from now, time alone will tell. It is as follows:
